Surviving the holidays; A neurospicy guide

In this episode we tackle all the big issues to help you and your loved ones prepare for a sensory friendly and neurodiversity affirming festive season. We cover everything from food to clothes to presents and surviving crowds and unfamiliar people.

Podcast Episode: There were signs....

In this episode we discuss the early signs of neurodivergence and how they presented and we missed in our early lives.

We hope this episode will help you to understand the unique ways that neurodivergence can present in individuals and empower you to identify early signs in yourself and/or your children.

2025 UPDATES

In 2025 there will be a number of changes to the clinic. We will no longer be operating from 23 Balfour Street in Culcairn due to the closure of the Culcairn Medical Centre. Our new clinical spaces will now be in The Rock (Monday, Wednesday) and Henty (Tuesday, Thursday).

Lucia will still be seeing clients in Wagga on Wednesdays. We will contact each of you individually to let you know if there are any expected changes to the time/location of your appointment.

We will be running a number of holiday programs in during January prior to back to school. More information about the holiday programs will be provided soon.
