Podcast Episode: Coming to terms with your child's diagnosis of neurodivergence

In this episode we talk about the challenges that parents face when finding out their child is neurodivergent and how to take a fresh perspective on this situation.

Podcast Episode: To medicate? Or not to medicate?

In this episode we look at pharmacological treatments frequently used for children, particularly neurodivergent children. We discuss the evidence, the pros, the cons, the side effects and the stigma associated with medication for children.

NEW TEAM MEMBERS

- We have recently welcomed TWO new team members here at NeuroBloom.
- We welcome Angela, our admin, she will be in our clinic at The Rock on Mondays and Tuesdays and online throughout the rest of the week.
- We also welcome speech pathologist Emma, who will be working with us on Tuesdays in Holbrook, Walla Walla and surrounds.
- We are so thrilled to have these superstars as part of our team!
